Offering to bet that he was right, the foriorn one drifted away mum-bling. And we hereby offer that as the champion allbl of the 1916 season. If some one doesn't hand that bird a season pass there is no justice left in this land of the free and brave.

But for the dent put in the Giant winning streak by Al Demaree, our old compatriot, fandom would be fairly well satisfied with the dogfall that crowned the effort of all the major league contenders. Yanks, Dodgers and Giants got an even break, which is a perfectly fair arrangement for a holiday. The Dodgers hold first place, the Giants are getting a firmer hold on second place, and the Yanks have not been budged in the American. Everybody is able to smile except Harry Sparrow, who claims that the slight rainfall before the afternoon game drove our as 4 156

"Say," called the forlorn face to the first sympathetic looking scribe caught looking his way—"say, that's right about the Giants being beat, ain't it?"

He was assured that such was the discomforting news.

Myers is as much of a pitching sensation this year as Mamaux of Pittsburgh was last spring. His work against the Yanks in the afternoon game was of the standard set by oid masters like Mathewson, Johnson and Alexander. New York batters were held to four well scattered hits and the shutout was deserved. At the same time, it seemed a pitty to have lob Shawkey waste the wonderful game he pitched against the Athletics. At 1 o'clock this beautiful spread had not arrived and when Tonges answered the phone there was an explosion. Sparrow wanted to know what had happened to the lunch and Tonges insisted that he had sent it by a force of four waiters. Investigation proved that the waiters, by mistake, had delivered the luncheon layout to the clubhouse occupied by the Athletics and when Sparrow got there the Athletics had finished a delightful meal and were loud in their praise of the thoughtfulness of the Yank management.

one of the biggest days racing has ever enjoyed. To one who remembers the attraction of the old betting ring days, yesterday's assembliage at Beimont Park was amazing. Imagine an entire crowd, conservatively estimated at 35,000, which filled the quarter-mile long grand stand, overflowed on the lawn, found its way by the thousands into the free infield and packed the select club house inclosure. The mental picture gives only a fair idea of racing's rejuvenation.

The Suburban itself, of course, was the big event of the day. The public favorite, the Belmont entry, won it, but there was more or less surprise at Friar Rock's pulling down the prize that is coveted, sometimes for a life time, by owners and trainers. Friar Rock is only a three-year-old, and horses of his age rarely win a Suburban. The public, or rather that cortion of it which figured on the Pelmont entry as winners, thought he five-year-old Stromboll would be the one to show the way home Trainer Sam Hildreth, who saddled toth, figured on the race as it was "ImaWise Old Bird" That Flush of Health on spotless skin is a tribute to the correction of Constipation Genuine bears Signature

The pop-bottle flinging started when Paskert was sent to the show-ers for batting Harrison's whisk-broom after the umpire sent tKillifer and Burns out for protesting his decisions. How much glassware was hurled is not known, but it was a hot day and pop was selling good.

OUIMET IS "INELIGIBLE" AT THIS GOLF CLUB.

BOSTON, Mass., May 31.-Massachusetts golfers are up in arms to-day over the action of the Chestnut Hill Golf Club, which refused to invite Francis Oulmet, J. H. Sullivan jr. and other famous 'ineligibles' to compete in its amateur tournament Friday.

This is the first tournament under the auspices of the M. G. A. from which the former champion and his associates have been barred.
